

Take the following quiz to assess how innovative you are:

You can become frustrated with someone who:

- a) Doesn't move quickly enough because of too much thinking
- b) Moves too quickly without analyzing things

You would rather:

- a) Be agreeable
- b) Play Devil's advocate

Do company protocols:

- a) Make you more productive
- b) Limit your inspiration

What frustrates you when working with other people?

- a) A lack of flexibility
- b) Moving forward without a clear plan

You are rather inexperienced in your first project. You move forward by:

- a) Brainstorming new ideas
- b) Following the examples of people who came before you

You are more likely to fail if:

- a) You are not a realist
- b) You are not experimenting

You would rather work for a boss who:

- a) Has clear expectations and evaluates your progress
- b) Is free and flexible

You generate ideas by:

- a) Staying safe
- b) Daydreaming

When working on a project, you prefer to:

- a) Stay on schedule even if circumstances prevent you from doing so
- b) Explore even if you miss a deadline

What is more likely to lead to failure?

- a) Being too careful
- b) Being too ambitious without a plan

If a rule seems senseless to you, do you:

- a) Follow it anyway
- b) Ignore it if you think it does not make any sense

You view decisions from your superiors as:

- a) Final
- b) Flexible

What prevents you from enjoying work?

- a) The routine of work
- b) When you find a project not inspiring enough

How do you best define success?

- a) Staying at the top for a long time
- b) Discovering new ways of doing things

A project that was managed by someone else for a year, is now given to you to manage. Do you:

- a) Adjust what's been done already
- b) Start from scratch

Your reaction to unexpected obstacles is:

- a) Frustration
- b) Motivation

You are better at:

- a) Risk assessment
- b) Brainstorming

When you think of the future, you tend to be:

- a) A realist
- b) Optimistic

Results:

If your Bs are more than your As then you tend to be quite innovative!

If you chose mostly A, then you prefer to stay in your comfort zone and you are more productive when you plan ahead!